

What's your greatest investment?

Some insurance companies expect you to gamble your car, your home and your family's lifestyle—based on a Web site questionnaire or a ten-minute call to an “800 number.”

Go with a pro That is why you need to work with a professional, independent insurance agent. Unlike captive agents, we:

- offer a choice of insurance products from different companies/carriers;
- give more objective advice because we're not employed by a particular insurance company;
- shop around for the most appropriate coverage—at the best price;
- can access companies which offer specialized coverages for unique needs;
- offer personalized, face-to-face service; and
- live in your community and support local efforts.

The best part of working with a professional, independent agent is knowing a real person is there to help, just a phone call or office visit away. But as we bring service into the digital age, be sure we have your e-mail address on file, for service that's faster still—and more convenient.

Call us first if you have questions about your insurance, if your situation has changed, or if you've been approached by someone promising you “big savings.” We'll take a look at all your insurance needs and make sure you're covered appropriately.
